

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my frustration with the continued consolidation of media ownership into the hands of a few large corporations. This reckless deregulation of the media, most citizen's source of information, represents a real threat to our American Democracy. I am only one concerned citizen, but I feel obligated to inform the commission that I disagree with the policy of deregulation and feel that more not less diversity is needed in American media.

sincerely,
Todd Vachon